City diverts $50M from pension fund

CITY HALL. The city's Pension Board yesterday approved a $50 million move that removes the money from the markets after a motion by City Controller Alan Butkovitz that he claims mitigates risk to the ailing public pension fund.

The amount is only a miniscule portion of the multibillion-dollar pension fund already suffering from gross underpayment in the last two decades, but Butkovitz said it would establish "a strategic and tactical fund aimed at mitigating risk to the fund's equity portfolio."

"We are taking measures now to protect the fund's investments not only for pensioners but for taxpayers," he said.

Drifters charged in Aston murder

CHESTER COUNTY. An Aston man found dead Sunday from two gunshot wounds was killed by a western Pennsylvania couple before they tried to embark across the country, local law enforcement officials alleged in charges filed Thursday, according to reports.

The drifters, who wanted to flee other charges, were arrested in Indiana and being held until transport back to Pennsylvania, reports said. METRO/BXM

Pedaling for power

"We wanted to have a block party raising awareness about clean energy," Nish Patel of Verde Styles said Thursday at Power Down Philly, which took place at the Pennsylvania Horticulture Society's 20th and Market Street garden. Four generator bikes donated by Temple University students powered a D.J. booth and sound system.

Hunger ravages 1st District, study finds

One in two families with children suffer from hunger in US Rep. Bob Brady's district ◐ Effects likely found in city's educational system

Nearly half of all families with children in the 1st Congressional District are unable to afford enough food, according to a new report released Thursday.

The report, released by the Food Research and Action Center, analyzes hunger among families with children and families without children based on data from a Gallup-Healthways Well-Being Index. The study asked families "were there times over the past year when you did not have enough money to buy food that you or your family needed?"

By the numbers

195
Number of congressional districts where at least one in four households with children experience a food hardship.

32 percent
Percentage of families with children experiencing a food hardship in Congressman Chaka Fattah's 2nd Congressional District, which includes parts of North and Northwest Philadelphia and Montgomery County.

Nationally in 2010, the report shows 14.9 percent of families without children had a food hardship, compared with 23.4 percent for families with children. Pennsylvania's 1st Congressional District, which includes South Philadelphia, parts of Center City and North Philadelphia, the city of Chester and other parts of Delaware County, had the second-highest rate of food hardship among families with children at 49.6 percent.

"Hunger doesn't discriminate, and its impacts are devastating for children, making it impossible for them to learn in school and reach their full potential," Carey Morgan, executive director of the Greater Philadelphia Coalition Against Hunger, said in a statement.

Overall, Pennsylvania ranked 37th in terms of states with the highest food hardship. Washington, D.C., topped the list, followed by Mississippi, Alabama, Florida and Arkansas.

Guards rally for protection

CENTER CITY. Two elected officials joined security guards during a rally Thursday for protection against sexual harassment.

Two female workers have filed separate complaints against U.S. Security Associates with the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the Pennsylvania Human Rights Commission.

One complaint alleges a manager made unwanted advances toward a guard at the Philadelphia Nursing Home, while the second complaint accuses two guards at St. Christopher's Hospital for Children of harassment. In both incidents, the women were allegedly fired after complaining.

City Councilwoman Blondell Reynolds Brown and State Rep. Kenyatta Johnson spoke in support of the workers.

Cop accused of on-duty assault

Alleged victim is woman in her 30s who reported incident she claims happened early Thursday Philly PD would not discuss details of ongoing investigation

A Philadelphia police officer has been accused of sexually assaulting a woman inside his patrol car on Thursday morning.

A woman claimed the officer assaulted her after he picked her up in West Philadelphia. The victim is said to be in her 30s. Police officials confirmed the investigation, but would not reveal the officer's district or provide further details about the allegation. Initial reports indicated the alleged victim was a juvenile, but a police spokesman said the woman was older.

▶ Honor, service, integrity?

Internal Affairs and Special Victims Unit is handling the investigation.

According to reports, the woman was picked up near 52nd and Market street and reported the assault at the 18th District.

Last year, former police officer Joseph Harvey was charged with exposing himself and performing a sex act in front of a woman when officers entered her home during an investigation. He is scheduled for trial in October. Another former officer, Adrian Makuch, pleaded guilty last year to soliciting a teenage boy for sex.

Our Aim is to Beat Most Offers!

We Strive to Beat All Legitimate Written Offers

Before Bringing your items to us, take them to other dealers. Have them give you legitimate offers in writing. Then bring your jewelry and written offers to one of our locations. Although no one can guarantee with certainty they are paying the highest price for an article at any particular time, we will strive to beat most legitimate written offers.

Why We Can Usually Pay More Than Other Dealers

Most jewelers and dealers specialize in few items and focus on newer looking items to resell. Because they are unfamiliar with many other items including vintage jewelry, old watches, coins, flatware, etc. they tend to offer very low prices because these items are not readily saleable for them. Our company has many specialized buyers for the various classifications of items that we purchase, therefore we can usually pay more.

A Note Regarding the Up To Prices listed in this Ad

The condition and rarity of an item determines its price. If an item is in excellent condition and very rare it might be worth the up to price, or even more. However, if an item is in poor condition, the value will be lower. For example, a 1927 S Quarter could be worth $7,000 in new condition or less than $20 in poor condition. The up to price reflects items of exceptional quality and rarity. Although it is unlikely you will have these items due to their extreme rarity, feel free to bring whatever items you may have and we will evaluate them free of charge.

Customer Satisfaction

Most of our business comes from satisfied customers and referrals which includes their friends and families. Our showrooms are safe and private. Our staff is courteous and professional and we strive as a company to make your selling experience a pleasant one.

Philly: The newest New York of fashion?

ALEXANDRA WIGGLESWORTH/METRO

▶ Organizers provided a taste of Philly fashion Thursday.

- 10-day event next month will highlight local designs
- Many supporters think it can be moneymaker for city

Is Philadelphia the next East Coast fashion capital?

That's the hope of sponsors of the Philadelphia Collection, a 10-day series of events showcasing local designers and businesses.

"Last year's inaugural Philadelphia Collection achieved astonishing results. Not only did it help drive business to the city's retailers and designers, but it turned a spotlight on our style community and significantly strengthened Philadelphia's presence on the map of having a healthy and robust retail and design industry," said Melanie Johnson, Office of the City Representative. "The retail profile of Philadelphia has been raised."

The event has grown exponentially, encompassing two extra days and adding expert-led fashion seminars on topics like ethical design, entrepreneurship and fashion blogging. "With a year under our belt, the Philadelphia Collection will be more widely attended and known than the first year," said Michelle Shannon of the Center City District. "This year, with the informational panels, we're really getting at the business aspect of fashion, as well."

The Collection will run concurrently with Philadelphia Restaurant week.

Cash is in fashion

Organizers hope the Collection will feed city coffers as well. "Since this is only our second year, we're hoping to gather information from surveys and studies on exactly how much money the event brings," Johnson said. "There was definitely a correlation [from the first year to] raising our profile as a fashionable city. Publicity from last year helped get us on Forbes.com." The website rated Philadelphia among the top 10 best shopping cities.

Women smokers bear risk

METRO

▶ Be careful, ladies.

WASHINGTON. Women who smoke cigarettes are more likely to develop heart disease than men, says new research released yesterday.

After reviewing data on 2.4 million people and 44,000 cardiac events, the article's authors found female smokers have a 25 percent greater risk for coronary heart disease than males who smoke cigarettes.

The researchers also found the difference in risk for male and female smokers increased by two percent for every year they smoke. REUTERS

Stocks jump back following dismal days

NEW YORK. Stocks rose 4 percent on Thursday as the market bounced back from its recent pummeling and investors cheered results from Cisco and U.S. jobless claims data.

The gains came a day after the major U.S. stock indexes slid more than 4 percent on fears about the French banking system's health and follow Monday's 6 percent drop on the S&P 500. REUTERS

▶ After undergoing a grueling, 20-hour full face transplant, Nash now has a fair, almost blushing, complexion.

Two years after a horrific attack by her friend's pet primate, Charla Nash can now greet life with a smile

A woman who underwent a full face transplant in May after being mauled by a chimpanzee in 2009 revealed her new face in a photo that was released on Thursday.

Charla Nash, 57, who was photographed in her hospital bed at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston, appears dramatically different with a new nose, lips and facial skin.

"I will now be able to do things I once took for granted," Nash said in a statement. "I will be able to smell. I will be able to eat normally. I will no longer be disfigured. I will have lips and will speak clearly once again. I will be able to kiss and hug loved ones."

Nash was hurt after a friend's 200-pound pet chimpanzee went on a rampage two years ago. She lost her hands, lips, nose and eyes, leaving her blind and disfigured after the attack. The animal was eventually shot and killed by police.

Prior to the surgery, Nash was often photographed wearing a veil to hide her disfigurement. REUTERS

NAMING NAMES: SUPER COMMITTEE BORN

Opinion

TOM FOREMAN

POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT FOR CNN

Washington D.C. is one of the few spots where the mere naming of committee members is considered breaking news. In most places, people wait to see what the committee might actually do.

And yet, the city is all in a lather over the names stacked up on the Congressional Debt Super Committee ... or as I like to call it, the League of Just Us.

I refer to it that way because in theory this small, select group will be able to grapple with some of the biggest budgetary issues to come down the pike better than the whole Congress — which has struggled for months. That's not hard to believe. After all, the Cap Hill gang "in toto" handled the latest debt crisis with all the grace of a naked fat man trapped in a car wash.

Still, looking over the committee lineup, some political analysts are feeling oddly encouraged. Why? Three reasons.

CNN = POLITICS

Quoted

"The mere presence of informed and potentially cooler heads can do a lot to keep the temperature down."

First: There are partisans. On the Republican side, the deck is heavily stacked in favor of "we'll raise taxes only over my dead body" conservatives. On the Democratic side, the cards are lined up with "I'm not bending a centimeter on entitlements" liberals. Both sides need that. The party bases would go nuts if those players were not at the table.

Second: There are adults. Each side has also included some heavy hitters who can recognize a good compromise. Some examples: For the Dems, Max Baucus has been in the Senate for 33 years and remembers how the two parties can cooperate; for the GOP, Rob Portman ran the budget office for the second President Bush and knows how to talk about trillions of dollars. The mere presence of informed, experienced and potentially cooler heads can do a lot to keep the temperature down — even if there is sharp disagreement over what the old bears bring to the table. And trust me, there is.

And third: This is a high-profile committee on which everyone will look terrible if they fail, because failure will trigger Draconian budget cuts that will produce howls from left, right and center.

None of this guarantees success, of course. But in this town, where committees are usually dark alleys in which good ideas are bludgeoned to death, there is reason to be at least little excited over this one.

▶ Danny McBride wields a crossbow in "30 Minutes or Less."

In celebration of villainy

Danny McBride plays the antihero on HBO's "Eastbound and Down," but what he really loves is playing a straight-up villain in "30 Minutes or Less." In the film, McBride's an overgrown layabout living in his dad's basement. Once his character and that of Nick Swardson get the idea to open a brothel fronting as a tanning salon, they plant a bomb on a stoner pizza delivery boy in order to force him to rob a bank for the cash. Sounds kind of like the work of Kenny Powers, if you ask us. So, we asked him.

This character bears a resemblance to your "Eastbound and Down" character, Kenny Powers. Was that on purpose?

I was told that this character was written for me. So when I read the script, there were things in there that I felt that this was similar to things I've done before. You always try to pare back that as much as you can. Honestly, once I was in there with Nick [Swardson], it was a whole new dynamic — and so you just try to follow that.

Do you like playing the villain?

Some of my favorite characters when I was a kid were always the villains in movies, you know, like 'The Karate Kid," I always rooted for Cobra Kai weirdly. You know, you love Darth Vader, so it is kind of fun. Even as a writer, it's fun to write characters that, their moral compass is slightly skewed and you got to figure out a way to get an audience still to root for that person. I think it's kind of a challenge.

Race, raunch and too many bromances

Comedian Aziz Ansari makes it clear that he doesn't like that B-word ◐ Why the '30 Minutes or Less' star had Jamie Foxx as a body double (he might be joking)

"Can everyone stop saying bromance?" Aziz Ansari snips. "For some reason that bothers me. There is an alternate ending we just shot where we all f— each other. And when we watched that, we thought, 'This is turning into a gay thing.'"

The comedian and star of NBC's "Parks and Recreation" is talking about his role in "30 Minutes or Less." Director Ruben Fleischer describes the film as a "double buddy comedy," since Ansari and Jesse Eisenberg play two friends forced to rob a bank by two other buddies (Danny McBride and Nick Swardson) who want to make fast money in order to open a tanning salon-slash-brothel. The two pairs seem incredibly chummy offscreen and on, but that doesn't mean Ansari would put up with Eisenberg's wild driving skills for the car chase scenes.

"It is Jesse in the car but in the passenger seat, it's not me," he says. "It's actually Jamie Foxx and they CGI-ed my face on in post, because I was too scared."

But one thing Ansari will never wuss out on is a chance to make a joke about race — his own or that of anyone else.

"It would've been awkward if there was a white character saying that stuff," he says referencing cracks he made at his own expense. "It's a good thing it was me, because those would not have made sense. They had to stop me sometimes like, 'Aziz, you're not Korean, you can't say that.'"

Aziz Ansari's favorite action sequence: "The car chases in 'Steel Magnolias' are really amazing."

It's all about the improv

"We all improvised so much that it's really a credit to [director Ruben Fleischer] and the editors and the producers," Ansari says. "They did a great job of filtering all the stuff we did to the best stuff. I mean, it's hard to narrow down one favorite moment because there's really so much. When I watched, I was like, 'What, that made it in? That made it in?'"

Gleeks only

"Glee: The 3D Concert Movie"
Director: Kevin Tancharoen
Cast: Chris Colfer, Jane Lynch, Lea Michele
Rating: PG
Grade: ●●○○○

"Glee: The 3D Concert Movie" literally sings to the choir. If there ever was a movie made for fans, this is it. A concert film, with real-life fan testimonials tucked in between the pop songs and show tunes, the music loses most of its context when there isn't a storyline to play off. What's left is essentially karaoke with some nifty dance moves thrown in. Highlights include Lea Michele warbling through a Barbra Streisand tune, but when Mark Salling sings "Fat Bottomed Girls" it doesn't sound so much like a Queen classic as it does the squealing death of rock 'n' roll.

Paging Spielberg

Blige is taking her new career seriously, working with an acting coach to hone her skills. "I'm improving," she says modestly. While she says music has given her great confidence in life, "acting is just the opposite. It says to me, 'You've got a lot of work to do. You're blinking. You're stuttering.

www.metro.us

Keep working on your confidence.'" And where does she hope that growing confidence will take her? Ideally into a Steven Spielberg film. "If he ever does a huge movie, I would love for him to call Mary J. Blige to be one of the African-Americans in the film," she says. "That's a big deal."

'It means everything to me'

Mary J. Blige — singer and, more recently, actress — makes 'The Help' even more moving

GETTY IMAGES

▶ Mary J. Blige contributes a central song for the film "The Help" and will star in the upcoming adaptation of the Broadway musical "Rock of Ages."

While she's lent her musical talents to films before, Grammy-winning singer Mary J. Blige wanted "The Living Proof," her contribution to "The Help," to be more than a mere soundtrack listing. Based on Kathryn Stockett's best-selling novel of the same name, "The Help" captures the essence of 1960s Jackson, Miss., chronicling the relationships between three very different women who come together around a secret writing project that puts them all at risk.

"I saw a screening of the movie twice," Blige explains. "At each screening I would write down each time something would make me cry and I would write down when I laughed. By the time we got to the studio, the song was almost written." And while the song intertwines thematically with the film, it's still an intensely personal piece for Blige. "It means everything to me," she says of the tune. "It means I know exactly where I'm going. I know that my journey continues because it's been so rough here that to have any life, I have to have the courage to keep moving."

And moving forward is something Blige excels at, starting with moving from music into acting. Having already made several television and film appearances, Blige is currently shooting "Rock of Ages." Describing her casting in the Broadway smash-turned-movie as "a blessing," Blige plays Justice, "a gentlemen's club owner — a very nice strip club owner," she says. "I have to be the light in a dark place. That's who Justice is. And that's basically my part. Of course there's singing. I sing and I act."

‘Final Destination’ avoids near death

Didn’t like the last ‘Final Destination’? Neither did the people behind the new one How ‘5’ is different

The review

Fifth time’s a charm

‘Final Destination 5’
Director: Steven Quale
Cast: Nicholas D’Agosto and Emma Bell
Rating: R Grade: ●●●○○
There’s something delightfully straightforward about the “Final Destination” franchise, a series that knows what it is and doesn’t pretend to be anything else. It also knows why you’re here: to see a group of witless young adults miraculously cheat death, only to have it catch up with them one by one in evermore complex ways. The biggest surprise is that, five films in, the franchise is actually at its best, managing to work in macabre laughs and a clever twist that rewards eagle-eyed viewers. But what about those infamous death scenes? Some are more elaborate than others, but all are executed with tension. Let’s just say you’ll never watch a gymnastics competition the same way again. ● NED EHRBAR

DOANE GREGORY

The folks behind “Final Destination 5” want you to see their movie, but they understand if your faith in the franchise is shaken. “We wanted to say to everybody, ‘This is a serious movie that we took seriously, it’s well-made and it is not what you would expect, given the last two or three movies in the franchise,’” producer Craig Perry says.

The incredibly candid producer admits the franchise lost its way somewhat on the road to No. 5. “I think we had lost what made the original special,” he says. “The first one was able to handle that balance between humor and dark portent, and some of the subsequent ones, we went so far into making it over the top that it actually became distancing.”

To help solve that issue, Perry and company brought in a new director, Steven Quale. While his directing résumé isn’t terribly long, his technical savvy came in handy, since “Final Destination 5” was shot in 3-D. “Having directed the second unit and done some visual effects for ‘Avatar,’ I have years of experience working in the 3-D realm, and I think it’s dependent on the filmmaker to figure out what he or she wants to do to organically make the 3-D part of the movie,” he says.

One thing Quale and Perry definitely didn’t want to use was the post-conversion process for making it 3-D. “The conversion process is a cheap way of getting 3-D that I think has diminished the quality of what people think 3-D should be like,” Quale says. Perry agrees: “Sometimes people make a piece of s— movie. Converting it ain’t going to change the fact that it’s a piece of s—.”

Getting serious

Quale proved the right man for the job for getting past what didn’t work about the previous films.

“I don’t like the word ‘camp,’” he says. “I am one that really hates that kind of stuff. ‘Austin Powers’ is great, but that’s what it is. It’s a parody. And I didn’t want that to happen to this movie.”

Amateur Night features everything from birthdays to historical footage

With cameras in every pocket and an audience of millions sitting handily online, everyone these days is a filmmaker. Home movies in the pre-digital age tend to get dismissed as tedious footage of family vacations and birthday parties, but the film preservationists of the Center for Home Movies hope to show that Super-8 cameras captured far more fascinating subjects as well.

"Home movies are a way for people to show how they really live rather than being depicted by someone else," says archivist Dwight Swanson. "They give us access to people and places that otherwise weren't recorded on film."

There are somewhat traditional home movies (even some by Alfred Hitchcock) on the program for "Amateur Night: Home Movies From American Archives," which Swanson will present this weekend. But there are also glimpses of an atom bomb test, a WWII Japanese internment camp and President Nixon working a crowd — from the president's perspective.

"I wanted to put together a feature-length program that would spotlight a lot of the films being protected and preserved by the American Film Archives," Swanson says. "Throughout the 20th century, there were a lot of different filmmakers covering different topics and events and even styles."

▶ Aziz Ansari and Jesse Eisenberg play ex-best friends in "30 Minutes or Less."

Fast, foul and out of control

'30 Minutes or Less' is a fast-paced joyride of an action-comedy with all the raunch, car chases and pyrotechnics an R-rated comedy could ever ask for

There's nothing genteel about "30 Minutes or Less." The presence of Danny McBride assures that. If you don't find his brand of foulmouthed, anything-goes humor amusing, then you'll find very little to like here. But, if McBride turns your crank, you'll find much to enjoy.

Jesse Eisenberg may not get nominated for this one, but he does get a good Facebook jab in there. It's good to see he can have a sense of humor about "The Social Network," his biggest success so far. Aziz Ansari is a manic ball of energy here; and while at first it seems like he might be too much, by the end it's great he's there. The other thing this movie has going for it is the pace. It moves like a rocket. The 90 minutes really do feel like 30 minutes — or less!

No one will be talking about the cinematography or costume design, but they will talk about what a raunchy good time they had at the movies — and that's the goal of this kind of film. It's like the spiritual cousin of director Ruben Fleischer's "Zombieland," an unexpectedly fun mix of action and humor.

If you go

'30 Minutes or Less'
Director: Ruben Fleischer
Cast: Aziz Ansari, Jesse Eisenberg, Danny McBride and Nick Swardson
Rating: R
Grade: ●●●●●

It's a dog's life for Rolling Stone contest winners

You may not have heard of the four burly, hirsute men from Saskatchewan called the Sheepdogs, but after winning Rolling Stone magazine's first "Do You Wanna Be a Rock & Roll Star?" contest, they just became the first unsigned band to ever land a cover story in the magazine. Also part of their prize: a recording contract with Atlantic Records.

Since their fan-voted victory, the bluesy rock group with a '70s vibe has sped up to live life in the fast lane.

"I'm not really sure how much sleep I got last night because I can't remember when I went to bed," says drummer Sam Corbett.

The band came together in 2005, sharing a love for Kings of Leon. And now, despite the recent drama that forced the Kings to cancel their U.S. dates, the Sheepdogs are gearing up to tour Canada with them this fall.

"I know they've had issues before and it's not easy being in the spotlight," says guitarist Leot Hanson. "But in the end, you're brothers."

STOP WORRYING ABOUT MONEY!

COMING TO PHILADELPHIA AND SURROUNDING AREAS ON AUGUST 16TH-19TH

I believe what is happening to our economy right now is NOT a "normal" cycle of recession, but a radical change that could wipe out the Middle Class and leave us with a society of only rich and poor.

DO YOU WANT TO BE RICH OR POOR?
NOW YOU HAVE THE POWER TO CHOOSE

A crisis like this is really your biggest opportunity because all the losers give up. And the playing field is left wide open to people who understand "The New Rules of Money." The winners will be people like you. That's what my Rich Dad Education™ training team will show you at a FREE "Learn to Be Rich" Workshop.

DON'T PANIC - GET PREPARED!

What this current recession has made crystal clear is that the rich have an unfair advantage, because it's not what they HAVE – it's what they KNOW that matters. The good news is that you can put this same unfair advantage to work for you!

Our FREE "Learn to Be Rich" Workshop is created for you to begin to get the knowledge you need to

- Become Financially Smarter
- Create Income
- Build Long-term Cashflow
- Rescue Your Retirement

This could be the turning point in your life... Even if you don't have money today!

Pattinson's deleted scene

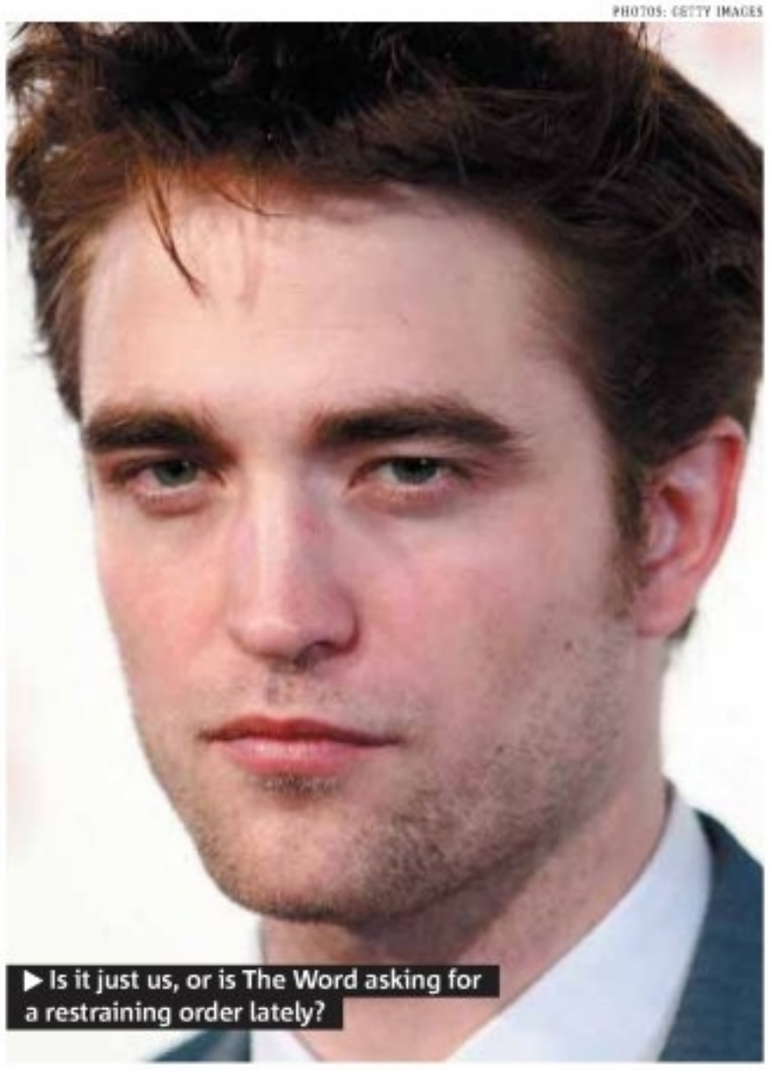
PHOTOS: GETTY IMAGES



▶ Is it just us, or is The Word asking for a restraining order lately?

Our least favorite thing about vampires? The now seemingly required graphic undead sex scenes. (Runner-up goes to CGI werewolves, but those, thankfully, are another story. For now. Put down your creepy pen, Stephenie!)

Robert Pattinson seems to share our discomfort, and was hoping to lighten up the honeymoon scene in the upcoming "Breaking Dawn." "I wanted to have it as a line so much: 'I bit through all the pillows. Every. Single. One.' And then he'd start crying," the actor tells Entertainment Weekly. "By the way, that's what he should be ashamed of in the morning. All those beautiful pillows! Egyptian cotton! I ruined this bed!"

Nice rewrites, Rob. If you need some edits, the Metro conference room — complete with very cheap, totally replaceable, don't-even-worry-about-them Ikea chairs — is always open.

Have a crazy bride-to-be in your life?

Kim Kardashian

For perspective, we present this quote from Kim Kardashian:

"Last night I took the red-eye at midnight, landed at eight in the morning in New York, ran to Vera Wang for a dress fitting at 10 a.m., then left at noon on another flight out," she tells E! Online. "I spent like 11 hours on a plane just to spend three hours in New York."

Paula Abdul, we owe you

We love leaked lists of diva demands. Mostly, because it makes us feel like the low-maintenance, gracious people we so clearly aren't, but it's also nice to know that should gossip columnists start raking in the big bucks, it's still cool to demand sorted Skittles.

Paula Abdul's assistants, according to UsMagazine.com's source, are required to: Tape all of her conversations, monitor TiVo for any mentions of her and remind her that she is a "warrior, survivor and gift." A gift indeed.

Talking points

Lopez and Anthony play nice(ish)

Jennifer Lopez reunited with estranged husband Marc Anthony this week in the Hamptons, according to TMZ. The pair were spotted riding in the back of a red convertible in Southampton, N.Y., where Anthony was visiting to see his children, his rep explains. And he's reportedly not taking their divorce well. "His mood shifts from blaming her to begging her to take him back to telling her she is destroying his life," a source tells Us Weekly, adding that while working out the details of their impending divorce, Anthony was "being difficult on every little point. He wants to prolong things so she reconsiders."

Kate Hudson keeping her parenting cool

Kate Hudson says she's aspiring to be like her own parents when it comes to raising her kids. "My parents allowed my brother and I to have our freedom," she tells Elle magazine. "[We could] be ourselves and feel confident in our choices and make mistakes without too much judgment." Hudson hopes she "can do as good of a job" as her mom, Goldie Hawn, who "never hands out unsolicited preachy words of wisdom," she says. And despite having a newborn at home, Hudson isn't slowing down. "I would never want to be with someone who complains and goes, 'Oh, my god, my life is so crazy,'" she says. "If you make the best of it, it can be amazing."

Music

Ke$ha
Wednesday, 7 p.m.
Festival Pier at Penn's Landing, $50
www.ticketmaster.com
Wake up in the morning feeling like P. Diddy? Get down to the river: Our favorite boozy bedhead is coming through with her "Get $leazy" tour. DJ, turn it up, blow the speakers up — we're talking pedicures on our toes!

Bob Dylan
Wednesday, 7:30 p.m.
The Mann Center, $30-$70
www.ticketmaster.com
Don't have Ke$ha tickets? Mr. Dylan — who is, sure, sick and sexyfied in his own way — is playing the Mann the same night.

Girls Rock Philly Showcase
Saturday, noon
World Cafe Live, $10
www.girlsrockphilly.org
Fifteen bands from the girls-only, totally rocking day camp perform their original material this weekend. Good luck, ladies!

Alkaline Trio
Saturday, 8 p.m.
The Trocadero, $21
www.ticketmaster.com
The punk rockers headline the Troc on a bill that also includes lovely local guys mewithoutyou.

Rock the Bells
Tuesday, 7 p.m.
$30, The TLA
www.ticketmaster.com
Raekwon, Ghost and Mobb Deep headline this hip-hop tour.

The War on Drugs
Thursday, 9 p.m.
Johnny Brenda's, $12
www.johnnybrendas.com
The record release party for War on Drugs' latest, "Slave Ambient," will also feature sets by Cavemen and Tin Horses.

American Idols Live!
Wednesday, 7 p.m.
The Wells Fargo Center, $42-$62
www.wellsfargocenterphilly.com
The top 11 contestants from last season — including winner Scotty McCreery and fan fave Pia Toscano — perform without having to worry about being upstaged by Steven Tyler and company.

Arts

Big Art Show
Saturday, 8 p.m.
Pterodactyl, 3237 Ambler St., Free
www.bigartshow.com
Part gallery show, part art sale, this free art/music series is just as much a party. Get in touch via the website if you'd like to show your work (also free, because damn, these guys are nice).

GayFest
Friday through Aug. 28
The Shubin Theatre
407 Bainbridge St.
www.shubintheatre.com
This new LGBTQ theater festival features four Philly premieres: comedies "The Last Sunday in June," "Devil Boys from Beyond" and "The Beebo Brinker Chronicles" as well the drama "Slipping." Discount passes are available for multiple shows.

Food & Drink

Pennsylvania Dutch Festival
Through Saturday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.
Reading Terminal Market
www.readingterminalmarket.org
Because if you're going to eat fried dough, you may as well celebrate local traditions while you're at it.

Cabo Wabo Tequila Dinner
Aug. 23, 6:30 p.m.
$55, reservations accepted
Distrito, 3945 Chestnut St.
www.distritorestaurant.com
How's this for a summer send-off? Chef de cuisine Maria Schmidt is pairing up fresh and feisty Mexican dishes with the pure agave azul tequila.

National Rum Day at Cuba Libre
Tuesday, 5-7 p.m.
10 S. Second St.
www.cubalibrerestaurant.com
Summer holidays, never change. In honor of National Rum Day, the Old City restaurant is offering half-price rums — pace yourself, they have 80 — and rum cocktails.

Movies

Movie Monday: 'Your Highness'
Monday, 8 p.m.
The Trocadero, $3
www.thetroc.com
What are Natalie Portman, Zooey Deschanel and James Franco doing in this stoner medieval comedy? We're blaming Danny McBride.

Are you 'Hungry' for more? You're in luck

Lisa Lillien, aka 'Hungry Girl,' brings her cooking show to Food Network Where the ideas for her guilt-free recipes come from

FOOD NETWORK

www.metro.us
READ THE EXTENDED VERSION OF THIS INTERVIEW AND GET LILLIEN'S EGG MCMUGGIN RECIPE ONLINE AT: WWW.METRO.US/FOOD
▶ "Hungry Girl" airs at Sundays at 10 a.m. on Food Network.

It's been a busy few years for Lisa Lillien, known to her devoted followers as "Hungry Girl." She has put out four best-selling cookbooks, has about 1,000,000 subscribers to her daily newsletter and is in the second season of her cooking show, "Hungry Girl," airing on Food Network. We chatted with the self-proclaimed "foodologist."

How will this season be different from the last?
It's a totally new set, and the show itself has really evolved. There are more recipes [and] the recipes are even better. It's just a lot of really fun themes and more guests. Last year I only had one guest, and this year there's some surprise guests.

I heard that actress Miranda Cosgrove came to make spaghetti tacos with you.
We had a lot of fun. She's the nicest kid. She was saying she doesn't really cook very often but she liked it. It was extra fun for me because my husband created [the show] "iCarly" and he created spaghetti tacos as a joke and they became a thing.

Did you always envision a TV show as part of the Hungry Girl brand?
I never really thought of myself as someone that could have a show. Early on, I was scared to think about it. I kind of wrote it off until the brand became much larger, and then after I had so many subscribers and these books, I was rethinking the idea of a show. But it always kind of scared me. Even after I did the deal to do the show, I was terrified.

How did you overcome that?
I like to face my fears. If you're afraid of things and you avoid them, then you don't grow.

How does it feel to move to the Food Network?
It's still surreal to turn on the TV and see Rachael Ray's show and then my show and then Guy [Fieri] — it's bizarre for me. I watch Food Network all the time.

For inspiration?
Totally. I get a lot of ideas from the network.

Where else?
Fast food, commercials, TV shows and from subscribers and just things that I see on menus.

Is it hard to convey your bubbly personality on TV?
That is the biggest challenge, but I just try to be myself.

Horoscope

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. If you fail to think for yourself, you can bet your bottom dollar that there will be someone who steps up and thinks for you. You may not like the results.
♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Actions, not words, are what impress others, so all the talk in the world won't cut the mustard. Unless you are prepared to back up what you say, you may be viewed as just a blowhard.
♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. Generally, you're a reasonable person who looks before leaping. If you let your guard down, however, you might throw caution to the wind and gamble on what you shouldn't.
♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. Important decisions need to be shared and resolved by both you and your mate. Each might see things differently and misinterpret the other.
♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. Unless you are an expert, you should not attempt to interpret and/or explain instructions on how to do something dangerous. If it misfires, you would be held accountable.
♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. Adopting too indifferent of an attitude about your resources could create severe problems for you down the line and cause you to wonder why your funds ran out.
♒ Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 19. Common sense and logical thinking will work for you in ways that your rabbit's foot won't. Be sensible about how far you can push your luck.
♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. It's always important to see things as they are and not as you want them to be. Know the difference between optimism and pure wishful thinking that can lead you astray.
♈ Aries March 21-April 19. Enjoy yourself in ways that won't decimate your wallet. In fact, expensive activities are likely to provide the least amount of enjoyment for you.
♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. Although there is likely to be an abundance of opportunities for you to partake of, you aren't likely to find the enjoyment in them that you normally would. Do something simple, and refresh your worldview.
♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. Just because you got away with something in the past doesn't mean you will get to do so again. Besides, you should make a concerted effort not to repeat a major mistake.
♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. Avoid going out with friends who have plenty of discretionary funds to spend that you don't. It could be embarrassing if you can't keep up with them and need to leave early.

A short night for the Eagles' offensive stars

Reid doesn't need to see much from Vick and Co. First-team offense plays just 3:55 in preseason opener QB goes 4-for-6 for 74 yards, TD

Three minutes, fifty-five seconds.

That's all Eagles coach Andy Reid needed to see out of his first-team offense last night in the team's preseason opener against the Ravens.

Michael Vick, playing in his first (competitive?) game since throwing a season-ending interception against the Packers, was sharp and efficient. He went 4-of-6 for 74 yards and a TD before being yanked for Vince Young.

Vick spread the ball to four receivers. And he received a pretty loud ovation from the crowd at Lincoln Financial Field when he trotted into the huddle to start the game.

With DeSean Jackson and Jeremy Maclin both out, Jason Avant and Riley Cooper were the starting wideouts. On the Eagles' opening drive, Vick dropped back, evaded a short rush and hit Avant on a 20-yard completion up the gut.

GETTY IMAGES

▶ Michael Vick completed four of six passes.

He capped the drive by finding Brent Celek for a 3-yard TD. Vick's 42-yard strike to Cooper set up the score.

After that, Reid turned the keys over to Young and the second team. Behind a heavy dose of Ronnie Brown (9 carries, 22 yards), the Eagles tacked on three points with a 35-yard field goal. ● MIKE GREGER

119.1

Combined QB rating of Michael Vick and Vince Young in limited (three combined drives) playing time last night against the Baltimore Ravens.

What we saw at the Linc ...

Metro Philadelphia sports editor Mike Greger's musings from the game.

- Rookie K Alex Henery booted the opening kickoff into the end zone for a touchback. His second boot, following the Eagles' first TD, nearly cleared the back of the end zone.
- Andy Reid wasted no time breaking in his red flag, chucking it at the 8:04 mark of the first quarter. But Jason Avant didn't have possession on a would-be touchdown catch.
- Chad Hall saw some quality reps with the first-team offense, hauling in a 9-yard slingshot pass from Michael Vick on the opening drive.
- Asante Samuel (left cornerback) and Nnamdi Asomugha (right) started for the first-team defense.
- Rookie safety Jaiquawn Jarrett (Temple) saw time with the second team, and recorded an interception.

▶ Klinsmann earned a tie with Mexico in his U.S. debut.

Quality over quantity for Klinsmann

Jürgen Klinsmann took center stage in his first match as head coach of the U.S. men's national team.

The spotlight will continue to be on Klinsmann as he replaces former coach Bob Bradley and tries to take the U.S. to the next level, which isn't an easy task. On Wednesday night — before 30,138 fans at Lincoln Financial Field — the U.S. played Mexico to a 1-1 draw.

Klinsmann has been in Philadelphia since late last week, first attending the Union-Houston Dynamo match last Saturday. There are currently seven MLS players on the U.S. team, but none from the Union.

Klinsmann is focused solely on winning.

"For me, it's more about who has the quality to represent this country," said Klinsmann, who is the 35th coach in the history of the U.S. men's national team program. "I go after quality. There's a lot of quality coming step by step through MLS as well, so we will always consider MLS players. In the end, we want the best possible players who can help us win games."

Klinsmann guided Germany to a 20-8-6 record and a third-place finish in the 2006 FIFA World Cup, earning him Coach of the Year honors in Germany. He was named manager of the German national team in 2004.

Report: Adu joins Union

Welcome to Philly, Freddy.

Freddy Adu is headed back to Major League Soccer, as a member of the Union. The move, first reported by Fox Soccer, will reunite Adu with Peter Nowak, who managed him when he played for D.C. United.

The Union wouldn't confirm the Adu signing, but they sent out a press release Thursday announcing a press conference set for Friday at noon. The release stated: "Philadelphia Union to Introduce New Player."
